Communications between database servers and web servers [Recommended]

Data communicated between database servers and web servers, especially over the internet, is susceptible to capture by malicious actors. As such, it is important that all data communicated between database servers and web servers is encrypted.

Revision #2
Created 26 September 2025 11:26:48 by RISA
Updated 26 September 2025 12:52:48 by RISA