

Version control[Mandatory]

A Version Control System (VCS) must be used within the organization to host git repositories. At minimum, the VCS should have the following features: concurrent development, automation, team collaboration, tracking of changes, high availability and disaster recovery.

Source codes of government owned applications must be hosted on government VCS which is GitLab <https://www.git.risa.gov.rw/>

Revision #6

Created 26 September 2025 12:09:44 by RISA

Updated 29 September 2025 08:52:51 by RISA