

Cost effective approach[Recommended]

Mobile applications should only be developed if they provide the best way option to deliver a service or automate a process. Developers should consider other alternatives such as creating a mobile optimised website which may be more cost effective and easier to adapt to changing technology and future needs

Revision #1

Created 26 September 2025 13:08:57 by RISA

Updated 26 September 2025 13:09:35 by RISA