

Protecting Intellectual Property

Government software may contain proprietary algorithms, code, or technologies developed for specific government purposes. Some of the software may also be licensed with specific restrictions that should be complied with. Controlling access helps protect these intellectual property assets from theft or misuse by unauthorized individuals or entities.

Revision #1

Created 28 September 2025 08:49:25 by RISA

Updated 28 September 2025 08:49:57 by RISA