

Resource management

Government software resources, including licenses, computing resources, and data storage, are often limited and must be allocated efficiently. Controlling access helps ensure that resources are used effectively by restricting access to only those who truly need it for their job responsibilities.

Revision #1

Created 28 September 2025 08:48:36 by RISA

Updated 28 September 2025 08:49:20 by RISA